BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1 .- [Exclusive Dispatch.] "Burns is beaten, and I think by tomorrow night we will have given you a southern Senator," said As-semblyman Joseph R. Knowland of Ala-meda after midnight tonight.

nomination by the joint Republican caucus tomorrow of Thomas R. Bard of Ventura as United States Senator. Mr. Bard will reach here tomorrow in re-sponse to a telegram sent him yesterday, and it is expected his arrival will be the signal for rallying the anti-

Burns forces to final victory.

Knowland has been one of the prime movers in the fight against Burns, movers in the fight against Burns, having called the conference at the Lick House in San Francisco prior to the meeting of the Legislature, at which conference Senators Davis, Stratton and others mapped out a line of campaign. He is a young man of about 28, exceedingly modest and reserved, and his legislative associates predict a bright future for him. In business life he is associated with his father, Joseph associated with his father, Joseph Knowland, in large shipping interests If his prediction comes true tomorrow, Southern California will have no cause to complain of the choice of the northern members in respect to the Senatorial candidate. C. E. WASHBURN.

SENATORIAL CAUCUS

RESULT OF FIRST SIX BALLOTS. SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.-[Exclusive SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Six ballots have been taken in secret caucus, and the sheep are not yet inside the stomachs of the wolves, neither have the wolves been skinned by the sheep. One prevailing impression outside Burns's corral is that the opposition to his game is in its own hands, so far as he is concerned, and there seems to be good prospects for their playing together harmoniously until the wolves are out ously until the wolves are out of sight.

For Senatorial honors Thomas R. Bard of Ventura has developed unex-pected strength and Grant correspond-

Burns gained three votes—Wade of Napa, Merrill of San Francisco and McDonald of Alameda—and lost two— Burnett of San Francisco and Cosper Burnett of San Francisco and Cosper of Tulare—so his net gain for nine months of labor since last session is apparently one lone old man (Wade,) the other two being more or less friendly to his side before. What could induce Wade to bring shame on his gray hairs is a mystery, unless it was his friendship for Esteen his friendship for Estee. The appearance of ex-Speaker Wright on crutches and with dark glasses was something of a surprise, even though it had been predicted that Burns would have him here if he wanted him.

When the caucus assembled at 7:30 when the caucus assembled at 7:30 p.m., there was an excited and jostling crowd of politicians and office holders in the hallways of the Capitol. The members met, pursuant to call, in the Supreme Court room and then adjourned to the Assembly chamber. ourned to the Assembly chamber. lembers of the press were excluded, but each had friends within who passed out the results of the several ballots and choice morsels of gossip which were eagerly discussed by the crowds

Bard was nominated by Senator Rowell and seconded by As-Senator Rowell and seconded by As-semblyman Greenwell and Senator Taylor. Assemblyman La Baree placed Van R. Paterson in nomination. Finally to cap the climax, Col. Dan's castor was shied into the ring by As-semblyman Johnson and Senator Simpson. A member afterward remarked that he wondered how Simpson could refrain from making a speech on so mentous an occasion Nominations being in, balloting began, the first ballot being taken at 8:20 p.m., and the second at 8:25 p.m., while the third was not taken until 8:40 p.m. It was on this ballot that Grant lost 3 votes and Bard gained three. The re-sult of the six ballots is as follows:

As McDonald of Alameda bolted the caucus and did not return until the last ballot, the total vote cast on each ballot preceding the last was 84, instead of 85.

Senator Bulla was much gratified at the complimentary vote given him, which, he said, was wholly unexpected.

Melick said that by figuring up the vote he discovered that on the sixth ballot thirty-eight votes were cast for candidates south of the Tehachepi, Grant, Bard, and Bulla, and he de-clared if these could be united on one man, only five more would be needed to man, only five more would be needed to elect, and these could probably be obtained. He thought it only proper that the Grant men, after the Bard men had voted almost all last session for Grant, should now come to Bard as a token of gratitude, and he did not so the same direction. He declared the Barnes vote, but not the Grant vote, could be united with the Bard vote on Bulla, but on the other hand the Barnes men are against Bard. From this he reasoned that as Grant has the more votes, he or his followers would be responsible for the loss of the Senator to the south, a very clever shifting of the responsibility which rested on Bulla's shoulders last session.

When the caucus adjourned it was Even then the gubernatorial bee was busing in Goebel's bontorial bee was bussing in Goebel's bon-net and he framed a bill, now a law and bearing his name, which threw the entire election machinery of the State into the hands of the Democratic party the State convention in Louisville were held in the spring of 1899. Goebel, in the meantime, had secured almost complete control over the party ma-chinery, and the mass conventions in many counties that were against him many counties that were against him were packed for him. The result was that when the State convention was called to order last June it was found that many counties had sent two sets of delegates. The leaven was working, and bitter feeling was growing against Mr. Goebel. However, so strong was the sentiment in the State in favor of Gen. Hardin that he came to Louisville with a greater delegate vote than either of his opponents. Then it was that Goebel committed the act that caused all succeeding dissensions and strife. He promised dissensions and strife. He promised Col. Stone that in consideration for giving him (Goebel) the control of the party machinery, he would threw his Hardin for revenge.

It was a long-drawn-out, tumultuous, hard-fought convention. The rulings of Chairman Redwin were so ridiculously arbitrary in favor of Goebel as to almost madden the Hardin-Stone forces. They pleaded, but pleaded for justice in vain. At last they combined for one final test. But Goebel had seated a few too many of his own delegations, and got the of his own delegations, and got the nomination by a slight margin.

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad became a prime factor in an effort to organize an anti-Goebel move-ment independent of the Republican organization. Hundreds of Demoorganization. Hundreds of Demo-erats, embittered against Goebel, joined in the movement. The result was that another convention of Demo-crats was held at Lexington the fol-lowing July, at which ex-Gov. John Young Brown was nominated at the head of a full State ticket.

Then followed the most remarkable ampaign in the history of Kentucky. It was a campaign of invective and bitter denunciation and excoriation, and a man's character, political and private, was not worth a song. Old cores were opened, personal fights re-newed and scandals were revived. The most remarkable thing about the can paign was that the greater part of th fighting was done between the Demo-cratic factions. Goebel spared no one

GOVERNOR AND MAYOR ON IT.

[A. P. DAY REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1 .- Sanford in troduced a bill amending section 2524 of the Political Code, relating to the Board of State Harbor Commissioners. It is identical with the bills introduced in the Senate and Assembly on the sub-ject, except that it adds to the commissioners and Governor, who, under the provision of the first measure, shall have control of the docks of San Francisco, the Mayor of that city. Under cisco, the Mayor of that city. Under the present law the Mayor sits with the board. In the bill as first introduced the Governor is substituted for the Mayor. By the terms of Sanford's bill both Governor and Mayor will act with the commissioners.

The bill as introduced by Sanford will probably become a law. When it came back from the committee in the Senate this morning Sims so amended it that it makes the same provisions as the Sanford measure. It was explained by Senator Sims that under the new charter of San Francisco it has been a question whether the Mayor could act with the commission. It had been finally concluded that he could, however, and for this reason the amendment was introduced. Upon this showing the Senate admitted the amendment.

On election day Brown inspectors were not admitted at the polls, some of the polls were without Republican representatives, and at others the Republican election officers were too infirm to act intelligently. But, notwithstanding these great advantages, a summary of the vote showed that Taylor, the Republican candidate, had about 3000 majority. Goebel charged fraud and attempted to contest Taylor's election before the Democratic Election Commission. But the commission declared itself only a counting machine with no right to hear a contest. They gave Taylor the certificate and Taylor was inaugurated Governor.

Goebel's last recourse was the Legislature. This body alone, under the Goebel law, has the authority to hear

Lieutenant-Governor. On joint ballot the Legislature has a Democratic majority, but some of the Democrats are not Goebel men. Seeing this, Goebel town and raced through the streets by the military. This morning, a small portion of it was turned back at the gate of the State House grounds, when an attempt was made to reach the Capitos building. This afternoon, it reached the door of the building, and as a bedy it has strong hopes that the next attempt will take it into the legislative chambers.

At 4.5 o'clock this afternoon printed notices were handed around the lobby of the Capitol Hotel, signed by Speaker Trimble, asking all members of the Legislature to meet at the west door of the hotel at 5 o'clock, preparatory to holding a session in the Capitol busiding. It was generally understood that admission would be refused, but the Democrats determined to demand access to the building as a mattir of form and to put the Republicans upon record. At the appointed time the members fell into line and in solumns of two, headed by the tall form of Speaker Trimble, the march was taken up toward the State Souse grounds. On both sides and in the rear came a large crowd. As Speaker Trimble approached the gate, which was guarded by two sentries, the soldiers stepped back; lowered their bayonets and allowed the speaker to pass through.

"Are you a member of the Legislature?" asked one of the sentries.
"I am," replied the Speaker, as he started up the brick walk toward the Capitol."

The same question was put to the other neembers as they approached, and when it came the turn of the Capitol.

The same question was put to the other niembers as they approached, and when it came the turn of the crowd the sentries fired the same query at every bunch, and every bunch answered in chorus: "I am."

The Legislature numbered 500 by the time the Speaker was at the Capitol steps.

The Legislature numbered 500 by the time the Spoaker was at the Capitol steps.

Upon the landing at the top of the steps, a gong line of soldiers was drawn up under the command of Capt. Horace Cochram Bayonets were fixed, the men stopd firmly and it was evident to Mr. Trimble that the moment for negotiations had arrived. Approaching the spatial, he said: "We demand admission to the hall. We are members of the Legislature and desire to hold a mession."

ing the paptain, he said: "We demand admission to the hall. We are members of the Legislature and desire to hold a session."

Clerks Leigh of the House and Desha of the Senate also demanded that they be allowed to enter.

"We have a right to enter this hall," said the Speaker. "and we demand that we be allowed to do so, in order that we may attend to the business of the State."

"I have orders to admit nobody, and you cannot go in," was the reply.

The Speaker turned around and, standing upon the top step, he said to the crowd:

"We came here to meet as members of the Legislature of the State of Kentucky. We are denied admission to the building and are repelled by force. Ildo now declare this session of the Legislature adjourned and it will meet subject to my call."

Down he steps went the Speaker and behind him followed the crowd.

There was no sign of disturbance throughout the incident, everything being conducted in an orderly and dignified magner by the legislators. The impromptu members were not so mindful of the dignity of their high calling and were inclined to make facetious remarks at the soldiers.

There is very little heard now about London, and there seems to be a general feeling among the Democratis and Republicans alike that the next regular meeting of the Legislature will be held in the Capitol building. There has been no announcement of the intention on the sart of Gov. Taylor, but it seems to have become the tacit belief that he will rescend his action of yesterday before the time set for the meeting assassination are going through the mails in considerable numbers. They have been received by the Democratic attorneys, by the Republican autorneys and by every judge of the Court of Appeals. They are all practically of one nature, informing the recipient that unless he mends the error of his political ways he will be shot down. Occasionally somebody threatens to stab. but the seneral trend of assassination are first the dev time the treddening and even in the dev time the treddening and even in th sentiment seems to run toward gun powder.

Ex-Gov Bradley's house is guarded night and day by soldiers, and even in the day time the inside blinds on the first floor are kept closed to prevent anybody from being able to fire through the windows with accuracy.

At 9:30 o'clock last night, Dr. Mc-Cormick, the optimistic physician, declared that in his opinion there was no reason why Goebel should not recover. The traces of pneumonia which had appeared, he declared, to be the usual occurrence in cases of this kind. The most serious symptom was, he said, the refusal of the kidneys to operate, and consequent danger of blood poisoning.

At midnight the news from Gov. Goebel's room indicated that he might possibly die before morning. The action of the heart had grown weaker, and as circulation through the right lung was retarded by his wound, but little blood was received by the heart. At 1 o'clock this morning, Dr. Hume said that Goebel would probably live through the night. He added, however, that there was a possibility of uraemic poisoning, and that it was possible for the Governor to die in a convulsion at almost any time.

It was very evident that the Senators and Assemblymen, who attended were and expressions.

and Assemblymen who attended were in hearty accord. No discussion has been had as to Senatorial candidates, all seeming willing to lay aside their preferences for the main object of uniting to down the common foe. It was generally understood that there would be no speech-making at taken until tomorrow, when another conference of the antis will be held prior to the main caucus.

The Burns forces also met this afternoon, but they shrank from disclosing the nature of their doings.

ASSEMBLY DISAPPROVES OF HIS

DESIRE FOR ECONOMY. Appropriation for Expenses of the Extra Session Increased from Twenty-five to Forty Thousand Dollars-Pay for Attaches also Raised-Breezy Debate.

[A. P. NIGHT REPORT.] SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.—The Assembly spent the day discussing bills introduced by Chairman Valentine of the Committee on Ways and Means, supposed to have been committee bills, but which it came out in the course of the debate, had been privately prepared by Mr Valentine. This discovery created something of a sensation, and the measures were amended in the face of strong protest from Mr. Valentine, Mr. Dibble and other Republican leaders.

As the bills were prepared by Mr. Valentine they called for appropriations to pay the expenses of the session, aggregating $25,268, a fourteen days session being taken as the basis of calculations. There was no objection to them until that appropriating $11,258 to pay the per diem and mileage of the members was reached. Mr. Brown then offered an amendment increasing the appropriation to $40,000. In support of his amendment, Mr. Brown said:

"I think the time named by the Committee on Ways and Means for the length of the session is far too short. No man can forecast the length of this session. One of the purposes for which this extra session was called was the election of a United States Senator. Last year we remained here the entire session in an effort to elect a SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.-The Assem election of a United States Senator.

Last year we remained here the entire session in an effort to elect a United States Senator without coming to a successful conclusion. The months have passed and we have returned to remedy the evil, and yet the one candidate (meaning Burns) who during all that time prevented us from electing a Senator returns in full force. Gentlemen have returned here to force the candidacy of one man, when the interest of the Republican party demanded that he be withdrawn. Had he been withdrawn we could have gotten through in very short order. In addition to the election of a United States Senator, for which we have been called, we have fifteen other subjects to consider. I am here to uphold the hands of the Governor in the effort to save the State of California to the Republican party at the next election.
I am here to assist in the election of a United States Senator who will stand by the administration of William McKinley. After the election of a United States Senator, there is other legislation which it is our duty to transact.
The harbor of San Francisco needs the improvement asked for, and if the legislation proposed is passed, the merchants there could well afford to pay all the expenses of this session."

Assemblyman Wade was one of those who replied to Mr. Brown. Wade stated that the Committee on Ways and Means had carefully considered the matter and had come to the conclusion with full knowledge of the facts, that the appropriation named in its bill was ample. the appropriation named in its bill was ample.

It was then that the bombshell fell.

Mr. Kelly, member of the committee, took the floor and dramatically denied that the committee had met this session.

Belshaw (Rep.) corroborated Kelly's statement and Chairman Valentine admitted that the committee had not met, but that he had prepared the bills himself.

After Valentine had concluded, Mr. Dibble denounced Brown for having brought the Senatorial question into the discussion. Mr. Dibble insisted that Mr. Burns had always been willing to caucus and that no caucus had been held was the fault of those who had opposed Mr. Burns, and not the fault of Burns nor his friends. Mr. Dibble insisted that $11.358 was sufficient for the purpose for which it was appropriated, and hinted that if the bill were passed with an appropriation of $40.000 Gov. Gage would hold it so that the members could not receive their pay.

In the heat of the discussion a recess was taken until 2 o'clock.

At the afternoon session, Melick introduced an amendment to the amendment, making the appropriation $17.000.

A sharp discussion followed. The Democrats were warned by Dibble that for the tree ment, making the appropriation $17.000. A sharp discussion followed. The Democratic was also to the paper would be held responsible if they would be held responsible if they would be held responsible if they would how if the appropriation. Dunlap stated that the Democratic papers would how if the appropriation were increased. Johnson (Rep.) advised Dunlap and all Republicans not to read the Democratic papers if they did not wish to be bothered with Democratic howls.

When the amendment to the amendment was voted upon it was lost by a vote of 23 to 51. The vote on the original amendment increasing the appropriation to $40,000, was adopted by a vote of 53 to 21.

The bill appropriating $3400 to pay derks and other attaches was then mended without debate, increasing the amenged witnout decoate, increasing the appropriation to $5000.

The Committee on Mileage presented its report which differed materially from that presented last year. It proved another bombshell. The mileage of some members was cut down as unchassed. Robinson of the committee added to the excitement by charging that the report had been signed by him under a misapprehension. He claimed that he had objected to its being filed in its existeng form, and expressed surprise that it should have been filed without his knowledge. The chairman of the committee stated that mileage last year had been compiled from a railroad guide and this year from the statutes, thus accounting for the differences. The report was finally withdrawn.

Assemblyman Hoey introduced a pro-Boer resolution, but was declared out of order. It will be introduced tomor-Adjournment was taken until 10:30

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch. Copyright, 1900. by the New York Tribune.] The Tribune's London war cable, dated Feb. 2. follows:

There are signs of reaction against the depression which has prevailed in London since Sunday. The retention of Spearman's Camp is regarded as an indication that the Upper Tugsia campaign has not ended, and that another attempt will be made for the relief of Ladysmith. The people of England, as well as White's brave men, have their eyes fastened upon the naval guns on Mt. Alice. While those guns remain in command of the crossing place of the Tugela, hope that Ladysmith may be relieved is not abandoned.

Accounts from special correspondents of the retreat and concentration of Buller's army agree that the temper and morale of the troops are all that could be desired, and that they are ready and anxious to march again toward Ladysmith. The evident hopefulness of Buller's soldiers and their confidence in his leadership reacts y upon the public here. To added the well-known fact this is added the well-known fact that Roberts has always commanded the respect and devotion of British soldiers, and that nothing has oc-curred to impair their confidence in him. The only drawback is the in-

him. The only drawback is the un-creased casualty list at Spionkop, over two thousand men being reported killed, wounded and missing.

While hope has been revived that a supreme effort is impending, with pre-without reinforcements, for the relief of Ladysmith, there are also signs of of Ladysmith, there are also signs of activity in other quarters. The report that a British force with artillery has entered Prieska is not explained, and it is probably a repetition of Pilcher's recent operation in making a rariid advance upon Douglass. Prieska is sixty miles southwest of Douglass, and is in the heart of a disaffected district of Griqualand West. Its occupation at least proves that Roberts is allive to the importance of making demonstrations in force in regions hat Marcking has been relieved. So authentic confirmation of this rumpr has reached either Cape Town or London. Kelly-Kenny's division is actively employed in coöperating with Gatacre and French. Few dispatches are now allowed to come through from that quarter, and Roberts is clearly anylows to divert attention from the complex of the is to divert attention from the work in progress.

The Dutch garrisons both at Storm-berg and Colesberg have been rein-forced, and Boer strategists are striving to repeat their tactics at Magersontein, Colenso and Spionkop by cre ating a new impasse by which the British invasion of the Free State may be blocked. Parliament is in need of better leadership than is now shown on either side. The Irish members from their own point of view, are exhibiting the best tactics in abstaini from debate and from division on to opposition now under discussion, be their inaction will tend to swell to vernment majority in the end. Th linisters are evidently preoccupie ith anxieties, and are overworke able to dispel at the question house many false rumors which have been current for weeks respecting the con-duct of the war. George Wynd-ham answered him with spirit, as-serting that serting that the Intelligence Department had assumed that the Dutch re-publics would put 59,000 men in the field, an estimate which would be in-creased by recruits from Cape Colony, whereas Great Pittain would soon whereas Great Britain would soon have 180,000 men in South Africa. With this army in the field, the War Office's record is satisfactory, but the generals in the field have no excuse for not bringing the war to a triumphant close. If they are beaten it will be because the Boer generals outmatch them in every respect.

TERRIFIC HAVOC BY BOER SHELLS AT SPIONKOP.

Two of the Boer Maxim-Nordenfeldts commenced to drop shells among the British, doing terrible damage. The Boer rifemen, noticing the havoc wrought, attempted to creep close up on two occasions, only to be driven back with loss. As they retreated they appealed to the British to surrender. The response was a volley. The formation of the hilitop is like a table, a mile long a quarter of a mile broad. The shorter side alone was available for rifle fire. The fring party which responded to the Boer attack was necessarily small. The remainder of the British force was scattered about seeking shelter.

DEEP DISGUST ON ALL SIDES IN ENGLAND.

GOVERNMENT OUT OF TUNE WITH PUBLIC FEELING.

Heart of the Empire Paralyzed While Its Extremities are in Full Vigor-Rosebery the Only Popular Leader-Buller Reported to Have Again Crossed the Tugela River.

LONDON, Feb. 1, 2:50 p.m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] In the absence of exciting war news, the nation and the newspapers have had time to discover the utter lack of relation existing between the feeling of the people and the temper of the government as demonstrated in Parliament, where, instead of relieving the grave anxiety of the country, the ministers are simof the country, the ministers are simply demonstrating their inability to grasp the situation, by beating the air with recriminations, self-accusation, self-defense and bickerings as to the self-defense and bickerings as to the degree of responsibility attachable to the respective departments of the government. The disgust, almost despair, noticeable on all sides, is voiced by the ultra-ministerial organ, the Globe, which says:

"The heart of the empire seems paralyzed, while its extremities are in full vigor. Thus far only one statesman in the front rank has struck the right note, and that is Lord Rosebery."

The actual news from South Africa is of little interest. Gen. Buller maintains silence as to his future movements, but it is generally supposed that he is maturing another attempt to reach Ladysmith.

A letter appears today from a Han-

A letter appears today from a Hanoverian officer, formerly of the Twentysecond German Infantry but now among the military advisers of the Boers, which says that nearly ten thousand trained European soldiers, including quite three hundred officers, are among the Boers. Referring to the military situation at Ladysmith, the officer saws:

BRITAIN'S COAL SHORTAGE. EXPORTS CAUSE UNEASINESS.

[A. P. DAY REPORT.] LONDON, Feb. 1.—[By Atlantic ble.] The announcement that a firm of Cardiff coal shippers has contracted to supply foreign agents with 400,000 tons of steam coal for shipment abroad has occasioned genuine uneasiness. The destination of the fuel is not mentioned, but as coal at present is excep-tionally scarce in Germany, France and Russia, it is probably going to one of these countries.

France is already supplying her home deficiency by buying in the United States, but the American shipments are intended solely for railroad locomotives and will not be used for the navy. The vital interest which the question has for Great Britain will be understood when it is realized that it is depending on Wales for coal for the numerous transports that have gone to Durban, because the colonial coal fields have been closed by the war.

It is pointed out that it would be a good move on the part of the Boers to closed by the war.

It is pointed out that it would be a good move on the part of the Boers to drain the fuel resources of Great Britain in this manner, and in the event of a sudden demand, the British navy would be perilously crippled by the loss of so much coal. Some of the newspapers advocate the government placing an embargo on such transactions in time of war.

DR. LEYDS'S MISSION.

PREVENT DELAGOA BAY SEIZURF PRIVENT DEL The public does not believe that Gen

Buller's army is capable of relieving Ladysmith, so the talk of a fresh movement does not inspire hope. It is not true, as has been reported, that Gen. Buller has withdrawn all his troops south of the Tugela. His bigguns were still at Mt. Alice on Sunday, with Littleton's brigade covering

According to the latest information, the retirement from Spionkop was inevitable. When reinforcements and a few guns arrived during the night the position still held by the British forces was so confined that the various regiments were huddled together, and it was impossible in the darkness to make proper arrangements to meet the storm of shell and bullets that the daylight would bring upon them.

while the Boers bombard the Diamond City.
Dr. Leyds's popularity in Berlin seems to be worrying the London papers. He is to hold another conference with Count Von Buelow, the German Foreign Minister.
The alarm over the alleged defense-lessness of the British Isles increases. The London Telegraph publishes a dispatch from Portsmouth, saying:
"In the naval-circles of Portsmouth there is a strong impression that be-there is a strong impression that be-fore long the government will mobilize the reserve squadron and commission the reserve squadron and commission several cruisers to be added to it. This impression is borne out by the fact that the naval officers who are unemployed have been noticed to hold themselves in readiness to proceed on active service at short notice. The work on ships in hand at Portsmouth is being pushed with all speed. Only the most necessary repairs on several cruisers, now refitting, have been taken in hand. "That the channel squadron should at the last moment have been retained in British waters instead of being sent direct to Gibraltar, is also considered a sign that some important step may be taken. The squadron remains for ten days or a fortnight at Bantry and then proceeds to Suda Bay, or Gibraltar."

And this, too, at a time when the tone of the continental press is not more hostile toward England than it has been for years, when no threats against England are heard in Russia or Germany or even in France.

Mr. Wyndham's speech was the strongest defense the government has ryet put forward as to what has been done and is being done. The general tone of the morning papers is that his figures will astonish the country. Roughly speaking only $0,000 men are at the front. Ten thousand others have been lost and 10,000 are shut up at Ladysmith.

Excluding these, there are 70,000 troops who have not yet been in action, in addition to those at sea. Why so many effectives have not yet been engaged is explained by the lack of land transportation and the organization of supplies, to which Lord Roberts is despendent.

transportation and organization will not explain adequately why, when generals at the front request reinforcements, they get them in rather small numbers. Knowledge is slowly penetrating to London that large garrisons must be kept in Cape Colony to hold down the Cape Dutch, who, as everybody knows, outnumber the British residents there three to two.

The cable scraps received during the last twelve hours do not further illuminate the military operatigns. Various independent correspondents confirm the report that Gen. Builer told his troops on January 28 that he hoped to relieve Ladysmith within a week. It is believed in some rather trustworthy quarters that he is again assailing the Boer lines.

DAYTON (O.,) Feb. 1.-Fire broke out in the business district of this city this morning at 7:45 o'clock. The department was called to the tobacco house of J. P. Wolf on East First street. The fire had started in the boiler-room, caused by an overheated boiler. The boiler exploded. Chief Larkin sounded a general alarm, at the same time calling on Springfield for assistance. The three-story brick building at the corner of Foundry street, was a mass of flames, the large stock of tobacco

It was believed the fire walls of the new five-story building would arrest the progress of the fire, but the flames were too hot for it, and soon the first room of that building was ablaze. By this time it was seen that nothing could stay the progress of the flames except the heavy fire wall at the west end of the Wolf building.

The property destroyed included the warehouse and factory of J. P. Wolf & Sons, tobacco merchants; E. Bimm & Sons, grocers; Benedict & Co., cigar manufacturers; the Dayton Paper Novelty Company, and several other smaller concerns. The Big Four freight depot, situated in the rear of the above concerns, escaped destruction by reason depot, situated in the rear of the above concerns, escaped destruction by reason of the slate roof. The office portion of the building was gutted, however. Night Watchman Snedicker, while trying to locate the fire, was overcome by smoke, and was found unconscious by the firemen. Louis Swanegar, a fireman, was badly frozen. Wolf & Sons, the heaviest losers, were insured for $335,000: Benedict & Co., $30,000, and the Dayton Paper Novelty Company for $50,000. In each instance the loss is complete. The total loss is estimated at $500,000.

At 11 o'clock the east wall of Wolf & Sons' building fell, burying beneath it three firemen—George Coy, George Neinber and George Greisheimer. Coy received injuries which will likely terminate in his death. The other two were not badly hurt. A hospital was opened up in a private residence near by, to which half a dozen firemen and as many volunteers were removed with badly frozen ears and hands.

DAY REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Feb. 1 .- At the opening of the session of the House, the Speaker decided the question sub-mitted to him a few days ago, relative to him a tew days ago, reas-tive to the reference of the estimates for the Rock Island, Ill., and Springfield, Mass., armories, in favor of the Mili-tary Affairs Committee, so far as the appropriations for small arms are con-cerned, and in favor of the Appropria-tions Committee, so far as appropria-tions for the fixtures of the armories are concerned.

tions for the axtures of the armories are concerned.

The conference report on the Urgent Deficiency Bill was adopted. It was only a partial agreement. Two items are still in dispute. One of these—an appropriation for a public building at Kansas City—was agreed to, and the House still insisted upon its disagreement to the appropriation of $5000 for the observation of eclipse of the sun, as $4000 had been given the Smithsonian Institution for the same purpose. The House then went into committee of the whole and resumed consideration of the indian Appropriation Bill.

Mr. Shafroth of Colorado made a besech awaying it was the duty of the procedure of the same purpose.

Mr. Shafroth of Colorado made a speech saying it was the duty of the United States to mediate between Great Britain and the Transvaal Dutch from the migrations from Holling the contended that England was invading the contended that England had practically abandoned her claim of sucreainty over the Transvaal in the contended that England had practically abandoned her claim of sucreainty over the Transvaal in the contended that the Transvaal should adopt naturalization laws for the benefit of the Outlanders; should adopt naturalization laws for the English language as the official language, and should not impose certain taxes upon the mines were outerage on the make, is whether such allusions."

Mr. Talbot of South Carolina dejounced Mr. Linney of North Carolina of his reflections upon the fair name of the South yesterday. SIBLEY'S ELOQUENT ADDRESS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Mr. Sibley of Pennsylvania, in an hour's speech, estileized his fellow-Democrats for opposing the annexation of the Philippines. He had, he said, heard no argument account of the property of the propert pines. He had, he said, heard no argument against territorial enlargement which was not urged against the annexation of Louisiana and Texas. When Jefferson negotiated the purchase of Louisiana he was the target of vituperation, ridicule and reproach. From New England came such epithets as "Jacobin," "Imperialist" and "Ferverter of the Constitution," yet all admit now that Jefferson acted wisely.

lisation of the inhabitants of the Louisians uprehase?" asked Cochran of Missouri.

"I am not placing limitations upon the powers of Almighty God." said Mr. Sibley, amid a round of Republican applause. Proceeding, Mr. Sibley pointed out that modern methods had prought the Philippines nearer than the Louisiana purchase or Texas, when they were annexed.

In reply to Mr. Cochran's taunt that divisation was being shot into the Philippines, Mr. Sibley said that the history of civilization had been traced in human blood. Wendail Phillips had said that every achievement of human justice had gone from rack to rack and scaffold to scaffold.

"Shall we hold Puerto Rico and the Philippine archievery foot. No nation on earth has a ligher right of title to a rod of soil. We have double title of purchase and conquest, and my belief is that where once the shadow of our banner has fallen there will survive a race of free men, and I would hold Cuba until stability, order, good government and the protection of life and property were assured. I am going to echo the President's query. Who will haul down the flag? Who planted it there? What Cabinet Council, what warrior, what statesman, what Senator or Representative, what body of men formed any plan of conquest? The crise of suffering humanity rang in our ears, and what stopped our ears? The groans were heard, but we answered not. We saw them stripped and wounded on our way to Jerico, and, like the priest and the Levite. We passed by on the jother side. Not unheard those cries and groans at the throne of the Almighty, who, to swaken us from apathy, our almost friminal indifference, permitted the sursines of His wrath to hur! their the hunderboths under the bows of the Havana Harbor.

the Havana Harbor.

"Nor keenest-sighted statesman, nor secur most daring warrior had dreamed even for the possibility of great gain, growth or greatness to come to us as a nation from that war of which the Ame blowing up of the Maine was the first declaration. God and the valor of American arms gave us that territory, not because we are a nation-altogether free, altogether pure, altogether pure, altogether blameless, but because, working through Him as an instrumentality. He has given it to the boldest, the freest, the most progressive, the most enlightened and the most Christian of all nations of the present age."

Mr. Sibley believed that the United States was destined to carry the arts of peace and the story of the cross to the remotest corners of the globe? He appealed to the Democratic side to come back to the teachings of the Democratic fathers. Expansion had been fathered and advocated by Jefferson, Jackson, Polk and Buchanan.

"Only cowards oppose it, Buchanan aid, and he was the last Democratic President we had." [Laughter.]

The Nieuragua Canni should be built, as said, and the Subsidy Bill to enourage American shipping passed. China was to be dismembered. We must reach out and get our share of scommerce. Mr. Sibley concluded as follows:

"Mr. Chairman, every dictate of rea-

We have a mission to full, a destiny to accomplish, an example to be afforded to the nations how hey may justly rule themselves, not a license, but in liberty.

"Shall we falter in our duty? Shall ye haul down that flag whose waving tripes bespeak the red of sacrifice and the white of purity, and whose silter stars, shining in the field of blue, re an aspiration and an inspiration to all that is noble in life and beneficient n government? No, let it float, and "Under its folds shall brothers be knit in closer bands from the mountain crest to the gray sea sand.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

[A. P. DAY REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Feb. he entire morning hour in the Senate today was occupied by Mr. Allen of Nebraska in the discussion of the report of Secretary Gage concerning his transactions with the National City Bank of New York. Allen gave way to Mr. Daniel (Dem.,) of Virginia, who delivered an extended speech on the pending financial measure. He vigorously opposed the proposition that the country should go to the gold standard.

Daniel M. Ransdell of Indiana and Charles G. Bennett of New York were sworn in as sergeant-at-arms and secretary of the Senate, respectively.

ATIONAL CITY BANK MATTER. WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—SENATE.— At the opening of the Senate session Mr. Rawlins of Utah rose to a ques-tion of personal privilege and to make personal inquiry.

"I have noticed," said he, "in the ord of the last week, frequent refor-ces to myself, and intimating that d I taken the pains to do so, I ight have revealed certain things as made.

Mr. Pettigrew offered a resolution that a paper entitled "The Philippine Commission" be printed as a public decument. He asked that it lie upon the table until tomorrow morning.

Mr. Pettus of Alabama offered a resolution calling upon the Secretary of the Navy for instructions as to why the declined to supply the Court of Claims with the information as to naval court-martials. The resolution of Mr. Allen discharging the Finance Committee from fur-went over under objection.

The resolution of Mr. Allen discharging the Finance Committee from further consideration of his resolution ading for information from the Secreacy of the Treasury with reference of his transaction with the National lank was laid before the Senate.

Ar. Allen claimed that the replies the Secretary of the Treasury had of been sufficient. He reviewed the coretary's reply to his resolution. He and the now famous letter addressed the Secretary Gage by A. B. Hepburn, ce-president of the National City ak, in which reference was made to be bank directors' part in the camilian of 1896.

Ar. Allen admitted that no reply was bank directors' part in the camnof 1896.

Allen admitted that no reply was e-to that letter, but he stated that belief was attained as shown by fact—that when the letter was ten the National City Bank had leposit less than $20,000 of governt money, while less than a month
, the government deposit in that k was about $24,000,000.

Allen declared that it would be ossible to persuade the American le that there was not undue intiy between the treasury and the lonal City Bank. Without having luded his remarks, Mr. Allen led the floor to Mr. Daniel of Virt, who discussed the pending

Committee on Mileage today rejected the claim of Brigham H. Roberts of Utah for mileage in connection with his contest for a seat in the House. Mr. Roberts put in a claim for mileage Mr. Roberts put in a claim for mileage from Salt Lake City to Washington, 2597 miles, and return, at the usual, rate of 20 cents a mile each way, making a total of $1038.80. Mr. Roberts was not present today and it was understood he had gone to Chicago.

Mr. Cooper of Texas moved that Roberts was entitled to mileage, but on a tie vote, 2 to 2, this motion falled. Chairman Barham will report this action, which he says is equivalent to a rejection of the claim by the committee. As a result of suggestions in the committee, Mr. Barham will confer with the Speaker concerning the recognition of any member who may seek to secure for Mr. Roberts the $2000 usually paid in contested cases. This, however, is not the committee action, but is due to an effort to afford opportunity to bring the matter before the House.

The latter omeers arrested sowen on January 27 at the instance of Mrs. Taylor, who alleged in her complaint that Bowen had burglarized a trunk belonging to her in the Burlington lodging-house, carrying off a quantity of allegerate of allegerate of belonging to her in the Burlington lodging-house, carrying of a quantity of silverware, which he disposed of at the pawnshop of "Billy and Joe."

After the detectives arrested Bowen they investigated the case and found that the evidence against him would not substantiate the charge. According to their statements the facts in the case are about as follows:

Bowen and Mrs. Taylor had on more than one occasion pawned silverware and other articles together, and enjoyed themselves on the proceeds. Bowen went to the woman's room one day and secured several articles of silverware from her trunk, which he sent by a messenger boy to the pawnshop. He gave the pawn ticket to Mrs. Taylor, and it was agreed that he should redeem the articles later. Meantime, a coolness sprang up between the two, and he refused to redeem the silverware. In her wrath Mrs. Taylor called on Deputy District Attorney Chambers and prevailed upon him to issue a burglary complaint against Bowen, telling just enough of the story to make the charge seem plausible. When the facts became known it was seen that the charge would not stick, hence the dismissal of the complaint.

SPRINGER'S TIMELY ACT.

SAVES A WOMAN AND HER BABE FROM INJURY.

Through the presence of mind and prompt action of Andrew J. Springer, a member of chemical engine No. 2, a woman with a little child in her arms, escaped serious injury, and a large pane of plate glass was prevented from being broken, about 10:30 o'clock

Wednesday morning.

The driver of a covered delivery wagon left his rig standing in front of the Douglas building, corner of Third and Spring streets, on the Spring-street side. The animal became Spring-street side. The animal became restless and began to back. The wagon cramped and soon the rear wheels were on the sidewalk. A woman with a baby in her arms was passing, and got between the rear of the vehicle and a plate-glass window. She saw that the wagon was rapidly closing in on her, but the became terror-stricken and was unable to move.

At that instant Mr. Springer happened along. He took in the situation at a glance and bounded into the street. Grasping the bridle he stopped the animal and led it forward just in time to prevent the woman and babe from being squeezed between the wagon and glass.

There were a number of people in the vicinity, but no one seemd to have the presence of mind to act comptly, until Springer's timely arrival.

Ed McGinley, aged about 18 years, sustained painful but not serious injuries by colliding with another wheelman at Ninth and Main streets at 7:30 o'clock last night. He said he was riding south on Main street, when the other rider tried to cross in front of him. In the collision which followed this attempt McGinley was thrown from his wheel, his head striking the street-car rail, rendering him unconscious. A patrol wagon was called and he was conveyed to his home on Gladys avenue near Eighth.

YESTERDAY AT SACRAMENTO.

Whatever else may have been accomthe floor of the Senate.

The severe arraignment of Pettigrew was timely. It was deserved. Ever hed at the caucus, of Republicans seld at the State capital last night, the fact was demonstrated that the bluff of Dan Burns has been called by the opsession, the jawbone of the South Da-kota Senator has wagged almost in position, just as it was called at the regular session, and, despite the bragcessantly at every session of the Sen-ate, and with but little variation i ging he and his touts have indulged in or the past year, the caucus has not changed his status as a candidate in any stial. Of course the commonwealth the United States. An uninformed peris not yet out of the dangerous Burns son, reading the reports of Congress ds, and will not be until some man other than the man with a piebald rechave been fully justified in cor that the Senate was composed almos ord has been elected United States Senator from California.

The details of the balloting in the caucus, as is shown in our telegraphic advices from Sacramento, show that to all intents and purposes there is still a from the lair of the grasshopper and deadlock in the Legislature, which is in the home of the blizzard. itself a great comfort to the respectable and self-respecting people of the State. It is to be hoped that the deadlock will continue indefinitely rather than that the Southern Pacific Railroad shall succeed in its detestable purpose to elect its man Friday to a great office.

But there should be no deadlock-or the contrary there now remains but one thing for the honest men in the Legislature to do, and that is to sink their individual preferences and agree upon some man who is fit to be Senator, and to proceed to elect him without further delay. They have shown thus far that been from the start, in this Senatorial if they will but get together and agree on a candidate, to destroy the Burns machine and redeem California from boss rule. Not every member of the Legislature can secure the success of his candidate, and it now remains for these the Republican party of the State out of the bog in which it has been so long present so floundering. The people will be satisfied with any good man for Senator-they are not inclined to be captious regarding individuals at this time. There were several men voted for in last night's caucus who are excellent Senatorial timber; and some one of them, or some other good man, ought to be chosen without further rainbow chasing or idle roll calling. The cry of California is: "In God's name give us a man!"

The warnings that have heretofore been given regarding the dangers of a caucus should still be heeded. The common enemy is as wily as an Indian and as unscrupulous as the fiend incarnate, therefore he will bear watching at every Democratic stage of the game.

The people of California are paying the expenses of the doings in Sacramento, and they greatly desire to have the drain on their purses stopped as soon as possible. Let us have done with boys' play in this business of electing a Senator. There has been quite too much | can breast, in the presence of so grave tomfoolery already. BRYAN-LENTZ-ALTGELD.

A man is known, to a considerable extent, by the company he keeps. This an old but true saying. Applying it to the case of W. J. Bryan at the present time, the deduction is far from complimentary, even to the loud-mouthed individual who "also ran" in the year f grace 1895. Bryan is now on a talking tour in New England, in company with Congressman Lentz of Ohio and John P. Altgeld of Illinois. These men are known from one end of the country the other as demagagues and blatherskites of the worst sort-even wors than Bryan himself, and he is bad Altgeld, in addition to his unsavory ecord as a blatherskite and a demagogue, is also known as an anarchist, who despises the laws and those who enforce them; a friend of and apologist for lawbreakers; an enemy to the commenweal. As a private citizen he is omparatively harmless. As the chief cutive officer of a great State, charged with the duty of upholding the lws, preserving the public peace, and rotecting the rights and liberties of the people, he was an exceedingly danof the State of Illinois, and especially ose of the city of Chicago, can bear witness. Lentz is tarred with the ame stick as Altgeld. His harangues in Congress and out of it, during past two years, have shown that he is geld, and that in public position he cause, in season and out of season, on rould be dangerous to the commonweal in proportion to the power conferred upon him by any office he might occupy.

There is every reason to believe tha Itgeld and Bryan will remain private itizens during the remainder of their natural lives, and that Lentz will be manently retired to private life after he expiration of his present term. But has wagged in praise of Aguinaldo, in Bryan is an avowed candidate for the Presidency of the United States. He is the favorite candidate, by long odds, of a great political party, which cast within less than half a million as many votes as its successful opponent at the last Presidential election. There is little if any doubt that Bryan will receive the nomination of his party, for inconsequential have been the opportu-President, in 1900. While there is not nities which were afforded to other Sen-ators to express their views, owing to much probability that he will be elected, it would be idle to ignore or deny the possibility that such a thing might happen. In view of this possibility, what can be said of Bryan's intimate association with such men as Altgeld the United States has an unquestioned and Lentz? Is it possible that Bryan's right to talk, in the sessions of that moral perceptions have become so blunted that he cannot perceive the loss [Suisun Republican:] The editor of (Suisun Republican:) The editor of the Republican has been furnished a copy of the annual Midwinter Number of the Los Angeles Times. It is descriptive of the resources and development of the southern part of this wonderful State. The edition is a most creditable one. No industry, however small, has been slighted. It cannot fail to attract thousands of people to that prosperous and progressive part of California. The enterprise of The Times is commendable in the extreme.

Daniel M. Burns.

[San Francisco Chronicle:] The Dem cratic papers of the State are, of ourse, much interested in maintaining be Senatorial deadlock at Sacramento, and in accordance with the approved tactics of certain well-known games of chance are disposed to "help the low man," Their present hardly-disguised compliments to Burns indicate their judgment of his position. If a Republican Senator must be elected there are evidently some who prefer their party to their State, and desire the election of Burns in order that they may point to it next autumn as evidence of the degraded condition of the Republican party. One of our Democratic contemporaries in its desire to help Burns at this juncture goes so far as to intimate that the opposition to Burns is confined to two or three Republican journals, when, as a matter of fact, as between more than three score of the best Republican journals in the State it would be difficult to decide which is the most determined in its opposition. As to these our contemporary says "they have evaluance that tactics of certain well-known gan position. As to these our contem-prary says "they have explained that hey would consider it a disgrace, a rime, a catastrophe to have Mr. Burns lected a Senator, but have left their

Later he branched into State politics and was elected Secretary of State. During his incumbency of that office there was a defalcation of about 331,700. For this twelve, indictments were found against him. Apparently to avoid arrest he fled to Honollul, but afterward returned and escaped conviction on the plea that the money was stolen by his chief deputy. Then the chief deputy was indicted and tried, but was cleared on a showing satisfactory to the jury that the real criminal was Burns. Subsequently Burns went to Mexico, where he became possessed of certain valuable mines. He was accused of obtaining them by the fraudulent statement that the mines had been statement that the mines had been ndoned, for which he was sentenced Senate of the United States i The Senate of the United States is an important part of the treaty-making power. The Senators are necessarily brought into intimate contact with the representatives of foreign countries. They are brought not only into official but social relations. Is it creditable to California to send to Washington as a Senator a fugitive from the justice of a nation with whose diplomatic representative he must necessarily have such intimate connection? When the Mexican Minister does not invite him to dinner does any one imagine that the intimate connection? When the Mexican Minister does not invite him to dinner does any one imagine that the Ambassadors and Ministers of other powers will not know perfectly well that it is because he was convicted of fraud in Mexico? And what reports will they send home of the character of United States Senators, and of the communities which knowingly elect such men?

It is in these things that the "disgrace" lies in electing Daniel M. Burns to the Senate. It cannot be denied or evaded; the matter of personal dislike need cut no figure, nor the part which he has played in the home politics of this State. As to this he has undoubtedly been more active in Republican politics. His organizing ability has been made use of just as Chris Buckley's similar ability has been employed by Democrats who would give him no social recognition. It is unfortunate that there should be a place in politics for such men, but they have always been used by all parties in all countries. Burns's work has been such that in the absence of any criminal record he would have been entitled, under the ordinary code of political ethics, to preferment to some recognized political office. They are services such as in this State have been commonly rewarded by appointment to the Harbor Commission or to some similar office with small patronage to disburse. There is no record in this State, and happily very few in other States, of rewarding men who were mere party "workers." with no identification with any public measure of importance and no known opinions on any subjects of that character, with the highest office in the sift of the State. Much less when, like Buckley and Burns, they are men of clouded private reputation. These are the objections of good citizens to the candidacy of Daniel M. Burns. in these things that the "dis-

RAILROAD TICKET AGENTS' EX-TRA MONEY CUT OFF.

[A. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.]
NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—From this day henceforth railroad ticket agents in al parts of the United States must depend on their salaries for support, for the railroads have cut off all commissions, which heretofore they have enjoyed. It is said there will be an immediat readjustment of the salaries of the agents to meet this new condition, but in most instances it is claimed by the traffic managers that the salaries are sufficient. One of the members of the Trunk Line Association was asked if iny agents had resigned in consequence of the sweeping order of January 1. "Not one." he said, "and there won't be one resign. The agents get good salaries, and these commissions merely were extra compensation. In fact, many of them constituted an underhanded system of rate discrimination. The poorest companies, in order to get business, allowed agents the heaviest commissions, and agents would divide commissions, and agents would divide he commissions with the passengers, and send them over an inferior and ircultous route, to their discomfort and detriment."

"The agents have no one but them-

MUTILATION OF THE HEINE MONU. MENT DISCUSSED.

Reformers Say They Disapprove Vandalism, but are Glad That Something Happened-Act Attributed to Public Sentiment-Heads Knocked Off, but Worst Parts Remain.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—At a meeting of the Demorest Woman's Christian Femperance Union in this city, it was intimated that the recent mutilation of the Helne monument was due to public sentiment against the monu-ment, which the Woman's Christian remperance Union terms "indecent sculpture." Mrs. Emilie D. Martin, national su ance Union, was the first to refer to the mutilation of the Heine monu-ment. She said: "While this union disapproves vandalism at all times, we realize that public sentiment was against the Heine monument, because of its indecency, and this sentiment has probably resulted in the mutilation the mutilation of the nude nymphs sculpture at Chicago last summer.

"While we deprecate greatly the mutilation of the Heine memorial as a work of art," said another member, "we cannot help feeling glad that something happened to it."

"How much was it hurt?" came the anytons guery.

"How much was it hurt?" came the anxious query.
"I understand all its heads were knocked off," replied Mrs. Martin.
There was a murmur of discontent at this, and a member asserted that the bas-reliefs, not the heads, are the

It will be associated with two interesting occurrences in the life of Miss Anthony—the celebration of her eightieth birthday, and her resignation as Miss Anthony, who is in perfect health, says she has other work to do, and therefore desires herself to place the gavel in younger hands and enthe gavel in younger hands and encourage the younger element to lead in suffrage work. She does not specify the other work, but it is understood that it includes the complete history of suffrage from the beginning in 1848 to 1900.

"I do not step down and out," Miss Anthony said, laughingly. "I go up from fifty years of hard work without pay to retirement on full pay. You know I have my annuity given ms by friends five years ago. My sister has her small income, and in our offer.

The assessment of city property beand an important change will be made by the City Assessor this year, which will interest all those who hold mort-gages, or have liens recorded against their property. In accordance with a recent decision of the State Supreme recent decision of the State Supreme Court in the case of Chris Henne vs. the County Assessor, the City Assessor will tax all mortgages that are of record on the first Monday in March, thereby creating no end of trouble for the Assessor's office, as well as for property owners who have neglected to secure the release of mortgages that have been suited.

The present assessment, law, which requires that all mortgages be assessed to the mortgage and the amount of the mortgage and the amount of the mortgage and the amount of the law is says has to pay the tax, while the means taken to evade it only serve to complicate the work of the Assessor. When a man borrows money it is usual for the mortgage to demand (say) 8 per cent. et., and then charge the mortgage 3 per cent. extra to pay the tax, Not only does this not comply with the intent of the law, but, as the tax rate is usually about 2.87 per cent., the man who borrows the money has to pay more than he would if the tax were levied directly on the tax rate is usually about 2.87 per cent., the man who borrows the money has to pay more than he would if the tax were levied directly on the tax rate is usually about 2.87 per cent., the man who borrows the money has to pay more than he would if the tax were levied directly on the tax rate is usually about 2.87 per cent. Owing to the light rainfall, the farmers in the zanja districts have again commenced purchasing water from the city. The Water Overseer reports that h has a ready been engaged. The revenue to the city from water sales during the month will be about $1000. During the summer months, the city derives $5000 or $6000 a month from sales of water but during the winter season low rates are charged for the water. Consumers are not allowed to engage zanja water more than a month in advance, and no definite statement can be made as to the demand this year. The Water Overseer believes, however, that in the absence of further rainfall. Yesterday a motion was made in Judge Smith's court for a reduction of Blackman's ball from $5000 to $3500. It was stated by his attorney that there was little doubt but that sureties for the smaller amount could readily be obtained, and after listening to some discussion on the point, the court granted the motion. Unc government lands, has been given a nate, and have had little consideration for a lone woman in her weakness. On September 6, 1898, Mrs. White filed in the United States Land Office an application to homestead. Previous to this time her husband had taken the same step, but, owing to his loss of health and finally of mind, they were compelled to abandon their claim after a residence upon it of only a few months. Finally, Mrs. White started out on her own hook, and on November 4, 1898, her original entry was made on the Calabasas property, and she became owner of the premises. Such were the threats and menaces and acts of violence that finally drove Mrs. White down to the city to institute her two-dozenth suit—she has had fully that number in the past two or three years—and while away she believes the Mexicans set fire to her house. She prayed for possession of the land and $1800 damages.

Judge Smith tried the case over a month ago. The Mexicans specifically denied everything, and even averred that Mrs. White burned her own house down. But their defense was not enough, and the court gives Mrs. White judgment for $450 and possession of the property.

HICKEY DIVORCE SUIT

WIFE ALLEGES NONSUPPORT Mrs. Caroline Bumiller-Hickey was in Judge York's court yesterday seekin Judge York's court yesterday seeking a divorce from George C. Hickey, on the sole ground of failure to provide. The Judge heard testimony in the matter and took it under advisement—in doubt as to whether a party of considerable wealth, as is Mrs.
Hickey, can sue for a divorce on that Hickey, can sue for a divorce on that ground.

Mrs. Hickey brought suit last October against her husband, asking that a certain deed be set aside and alleging that it had been procured by fraud and false representations. The property in question is a valuable site just south of the Hotel Van Nuys Broadway. The trial of this case had been set for February 12, but Hickey finally surrendered the deed from his wife and reconveyed to her the property. Consequently Mrs. Hickey is again in possession of her own.

The divorce suit was the outgrowth of the troubles that brought about the litigation over the property interests, and was instituted upon the information and belief that Hickey was trying to mortgage for $25,000 the property he had secured from his wife.

Mrs. Hickey made no special accusations in testifying against her husband yesterday, but simply told the court that he was traveling in the East and in Europe and during all the time of their married life since 1898 he had never given her more than $100.

This matter was finally gilded over This matter was finally gilded over by the admission on he part of Mrs. Hickey's attorney that Hickey has no property standing in his own name. "When Mr. Hickey started on his travels was he in ill health?" "He said he was, but I don't believe him," retorted Mrs. Hickey. "And he has contributed fothing toward your support?" Hickey, she said, had been married before and divorced. Coming to live with her, he had made himself very disagreeable to her children.

Before he left, he executed to his wife a power of attorney, authorizing her to sell the lots for him and receive the consideration. The property was his own separate estate, and, when she undertook to sell the lots she agreed to deliver the money she got for them over to him.

She sold the lots, but falled to deliver to him, on the consideration; on the consideration;

She sold the lots, but failed to deliver to him the consideration; on the contrary, however, she bought ten acres of land out in the country and had it conveyed to herself, for the purpose, her husband averred in his complaint, of defrauding him out of his money and also out of the lands turned over to her. She bought the acreage in August, 1898, and since that time she has heave refused to turn it over to him. gust, 1898, and since that time she has always refused to turn it over to him, and, Brose believes, she has even tried to sell it to raise money for herself.

Judge Allen yesterday quieted all title to the land by adjudging that Mrs. Brose now holds the acreage simply in trust for her husband.

GUILTY OF BURGLARY.

YOUNG MAN'S BAD START. C. E. Blackwood, a stalwart youth of muscular proportions, was on trial in Judge Smith's court yesterday on an information charging him with an information charging him with burglary. Blackwood was accused jointly with one Jacob Miller of breaking into a miner's cabin near Newhall and stealing food and clothing. The cabin is the property of H. K. Hamilton. Miller, after the arrest of himself and Blackwood, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to a year in the San Quentin penitentiary. But Blackwood stood trial, averring that he simply had joined Miller after the latter had committed his offense. The jury, however, found him guilty of burglary in the second degree and he will be sentenced Monday morning.

Threatened to Commit Suicide.

Mrs. Jane Brennon, a widow, who keeps a small store at Yale and Alpine streets, and lives there alone, was taken to the Police Station last night and booked for medical treatment. Late yesterday she displayed a small package, which she said contained arsenic, to several customers who entered the store, and informed them that she intended to commit suicide later in the evening. The woman's actions led her neighbors to think she was insane, and Patrolman Roller was notified. When he went to the place the woman repeated to him her threats of suicide and he called for the patrol wagon and sent her to the Police Station, where she was placed in charge of Mrs. Gray, the matron. This morning she will be taken to the County Hospital, if found to be mentally unbalanced. If her actions were due to intoxication she will be prosecuted.

DAMAGE SUIT. A woman named A. A. Brook has begun a damage suit against Mrs. L. M. Barker, propretress of "The Williard," a roominghouse at No. 328½ South Spring street. She is a dressmaker and asks judgment for $200. She alleges that she was compelled to leave the room she was occupying in peaceable possesion on January 30, to the great detriment of her reputation and patronage, and she believes damages are no more than right. She avers that on returning home from lunch she found her room locked and had to force an entrance, and then the landlady is alleged to have pounded at the lock until it was spoiled, and the Brook woman had difficulty in getting out.

LAST CHANCE

Purchase Big Panoche.

The sale of Big Panoche oil stock during the past two weeks has been so great that the board of directors have decided to withdraw it for a time at least from the market. Sufficient funds have been accumulated in the treasury of the company to not only purchase all machinery now necessary, but to carry on the development work indefinitely. The reports from well No. 1 are such as to warrant this action, as the strike soon expected will undoubtedly send Big Panoche stock to at least par, $5 per share, and perhaps more. Well No. 2 is expected in operation daily, and the machinery for well No. 3 is being purchased.

Midnight, Saturday, Feb.3 Is the date set for withdrawing the stock. Positively no more Big Panoche can be purchased after that hour until such time as the board of directors shall set aside another block for public subscription at a price in all probability of either one company operating almost adjoining the Panoche tract struck a flow of 1000 barrels per day, and their stock then selling for $15 per share jumped to $200. The Home Oil Co. stock to which Mrs. Phebe Hearst purchased 35 shares at $4000 per share and which sold on the exchange yesterday for $4000, could have been bought a few months ago for $25 per share. 10 shares purchased then for $250 are now worth $50,000. Big Panoche stock is expected to increase proportionately.

STOCK DIVIDEND ALREADY DECLARED.

Three hundred and wenty acres of the Panoche Tract has been subleased to a syndicate of prominent Los Angeles men. The Big Panoche Co. receives for the lease 100,000 shares, par value $1 each, in the new company. The board of directors of the Big Panoche Company have declared a stock dividend alloting to all stockholders as many shares free in the Los Angeles company as they hold in the Big Panoche. The new company have purchased Rig No. 1, which is already on the ground, and have ample capital subscribed to carry on extensive developments.

The Vrooman Street Law-Another Instance of Injustice-A Rise in Lumber-Miscellaneous Building Notes.

Recent decisions of courts in this and other States, in cases arising un-der street improvement laws, have re-vived the discussion which was very general a year ago, when the United States Supreme Court rendered a de-cision which greatly weakened public confidence in the Vrooman act of Cal-ifornia and all other statutes which confidence in the Vrooman act of California and all other statutes which aim to assess the total cost of improvement by the frontage rule, without any finding of fact that the property assessed has been benefited to the extent of such cost. the opinion, unfavorable to the street law which prevailed in the recent convenion of municipal officers of this State, is justified by its effects on the interests of all parties."

Business in the real-estate market is still quiet, except as far as oil lands are concerned, for which there continues to be an active demand.

In the opinion of a good many shrewd investors Hill street is the coming street for business speculation. Several pieces of property have been quietly gathered in during the past few months, and it is said that Mr. Laughlin has acquired all the frontage at the rear of his Broadway property. There are still some bargains to be had on Hill street, but they are not likely to be in the market long.

The City Council has accepted a bid for the gradie of the council to have the grade of Temple street changed, making a six-and-one-half-foot cut at Bunker Hill avenue and a five-foot fill at Feemont street. It is expected that dirt will fly on the boulevard within a month. The Echo Park Improvement Association deserves credit for the work it has accomplished, in face of many obstacles.

Without giving scientific reasons for the great salubrity of the climate of sighthward, while in other portions of the State the slope is at right angles to the sun. The northern wall of this sup-kissed territory is a wall indeed, averaging from 5000 to 10,000 feet above the sea. It is not the culmination, or bill fermination of the desert, but is a great elevation as high above the Mojave Desert as it is above the plains of San Jacinto or the uplands of the Los Angeles and San Bernardino plain. The Colorado Desert is 2500 to 3000 feet lover than the Mojave Desert, thus making the range in the southern portion of this section seem even more about from the desert side than the nowhern. The Mojave Desert average 2000 feet above sea level; the Colorado Desert is in some places nearly 400 feet below.

California, and long explana-

Of a typical winter the first rains usually come from the middle of October to the middle of November, brought by the counter trade winds of the North Pacific coast. After three or four weeks of sunny weather the December rains appear, much like the earlier and about equal to them in duration, and by the latter part of the month the first heavy storm of the season is due, but often awaits February for its advent. January is usually one of the pleasantest months of the wear, often almost cloudless, and solden a month of heavy precipitation. In February a very heavy rain may be looked for and the greatest rainfall for the rains in March usually become from "scattering" and finally cease altogether in April or May, March has given us phenomenal rains in the past and has actually the heavings temperatures for twelve years, ending January 1, 1890, which may be given as a fair index to what they are of average, years. During this term the lowest temperature for the winter months was 28 deg, and for the three hottest months the highest wind was rated at forty-six miles an hour, but was lover twenty-five miles per houronly forty-three times. When nine-tenths of the fruit firms and grower-shippens of Southern California put out their goods in the very best style the other tenth should go and do likewise, for a few carloads of poorly-packed, poorly-loaded, decayed, unsized and ungraded oranges do much harm to the business, and it is hoped that the hints herein about poor packing and loading may do some good, for they are founded upon actual discrepancies discovered by the writer while traveling about the country in the interest of his department.

The Rain Season.

The thousands of tourists who are in Southern California now, enjoying the balmy season our people call winter, are witnessing the fact that it is not a season of suspended activity, of cheerlessness and dreariness. It is not to them the saddest of the year, with frosty ground, frozen trees and winter-beaten landscapes. Here they are not hindred by adverse weather, detained by drifts of snow or their goings to and fro controlled by the presence or absence of bilizzards. The term "winter" in Southern California has is misleading, and it should be rendered freely "rain season," although to the orange for the orange in which he establishes his plantation. A pride in the personal appearance of the orange in which he establishes his plantation. A pride in the personal appearance of the orange of the orange of the orange of the orange in which he establishes his plantation. Enless te planter believes in getting all he can out of his orchard in its youth, at the expense of his comfort and excheduer later on, he should adopt the old-fashioned square method of planting. We hear less of the triangular and quincunx methods of planting trees. It has been said in favor of the latter that it utilized a greater portion of the soil as the radii of five root circles will come nearer reaching every point of the row space than those of four larger circles from the square plan. It has also been held that complete cultivation of the spaces is easier under the planting five trees where four ought to be is also held to be a visable because it allows the extraction of the center trees, should they get crowded, or it becomes otherwise necessary to discard the center trees, often planted of a different sariety from the four others by way of syperiment. None of these points are if much force. As to the thorough ranification of the roots, the

As to the last point, there is little excuse for planting experimental varieties at this time, and planters had better adopt the square method, determined to begin with permanence in view, and hold on to the variety his judgment selects, till it is tested thoroughly. Plant your orange trees twenty feet apart each way in average, alluvial soil. If your soil is of less or greater strength, you will find the twenty-foot distance about as satisfactory, for in either case the trees will profit by plenty of room. By placing them twenty feet apart, an acre will contain 108 trees planted squarely, 126 planted diagonally, and 199 quincuncially, the latter meaning four trees twenty feet apart each way, with one in the center of the square. The "five-square" plan will accommodate 137 trees to the acre, with squares twenty-four feet apart—a long distance apart for four out of every five and a longer angle for the third and fourth direction of plowing brought forward as one of the advantages of the quincunx plan. By extraordinary care orange trees may be successfully fruited to old age, planted a rod apart, or even less, upon soils so constituted that—the root area may assume the form of a flattened hemisphere, but in that case the difficulties of reaching the feeders with fertilizers offset the supposed advantages of growing more trees to the acre.

In orchard economics one principle is evident, i. e., that the rootlets must have room to breathe, feed and die—all inseparable proclivities of healthy vegetation. Crowd the laboratory and you make the work inefficient, with the danger of actual damage from imperfect assimilation. Trees are like the members of the animal kingdom—they must have perfect aeration of breathing pores to do perfect work, and it is obviously impossible to have it underground or overground, if roots or branches are congested from lack of room. The following formula of distances for different varieties of solls may be given as the result of practical experience, always bearing in mind that the individua

NOTES AFIELD.

In Following up the subject of subsoil plowing where hard layer, or hardpan prevails, I found a Pomona rancher last Monday using a new orchard tool to that end. This subsoiler may be attached to an ordinary, heavy cultivator and is used while preparing the land for furrow irrigation. It is a well-known fact that when hardpan forms, the teeth of a cultivator or the share of a plow will glance along on top of the hard stratum, falling to penetrate it and really making the obdurate soil more difficult of penetration after each irrigidate. difficult of penetration after each irri-gation and subsequent drying out of the moisture. The plan is to put a keen-cutting point in behind the tooth of the cultivator, which will penetrate the hard soil. An ordinary iron plow beam serves excellently, clevised to the frame of the cultivator and arched greatly lessen the complaint about soil hardpanning, which is doubtless caused by the frequent drying out of the sub-stratum as well as by the absence of humus, as suggested last

There is a delicate line to be drawn here. It concerns the depth to which subsolling may be done without damaging the trees through root pruning. Again this brings us to the fact that no rule will apply to all soils alike. I know of one orange orchard where twelve-inch plowing will not reach a root. root. In other orchards, upon similar land, the severance of leaders of even large size would not be of serious conroot pruning with the plow is positively advantageous, but not soils subject to hard layer. The latter soils are those in which the delicate depth line must be drawn. For you have a two-horned dilemma—either to break the hardpan and overlying roots together, or to let the hardpan remain and get the very worst results from surface feeding only. Of course the latter will never do, and the cutting of heavy roots over a hard layer is damaging in the extreme. The preventative is to plow heavily while the trees are young and pray for a very rainy seasen or two, to allow your young orchard to strike its roots deeply into the substratum, forming thousands of little conduits which the water may follow.

a drove through a temon orchard last week near the southeastern boundary of Los Angeles county that was suffering with the gum disease. A few years ago this disease was giving the orange trees a terrible deal in some of the foot-to fine mansions, cottages and rose gardens. These old trees were planted twenty years ago, but since the boom, and the rapid advancement in the suburban lines of the city, they have been an eyesore to Southern California, and have given thousands of tourists a bad impression of our orange groves. Fortunately the trees are about all removed. J. F. Barnes writes that these old landmarks, after being uprooted, are manufactured into souvenirs for tourists. There are two or three for tourists. There are two or three these it did with amazement and indignation tourists. There are two or three factories in Pasadena where these goods are manufactured in great quantities. Every part of the tree is utilized. Even, the smaller limbs and branches are worked up into pipe stems and handles for paper cutters, while the body of the tree is sawed, turned and otherwise manipulated into articles of every conceivable variety, for use or of every conceivable variety. and otherwise manipulated into articles of every conceivable variety, for use or ornament, and by means of wholesale dealers and by sales to tourists these articles are scattered far and widé, one firm even sending a part of its product to foreign countries. Pasadena is, perhaps, the only city in the world that has orange wood to sell, and it is because the town was once planted to seedlings that have had to give way to city improvements, were not profitable varieties any way, and had an insufficiency of water and cultivation to keep them vigorous.

I read with pleasure of the destruction of a lot of imported peach trees at Fullerton recently. The work of the Horticultural Commission of Orange county in this case was worth their entire relative realary for a year, for, now that the peach industry shows such indications of growth and prosperity, no chances should be taken with the borer. It required four days for the commissioners to go through the consignment of trees, but they did it most thoroughly, burning all the specimens that were not sound and clean. They burned the boxes in which the trees were received, and immersed all the clean trees in whale-oil soap to make assurance doubly sure.

I have had several letters of late complaining of the unprolific almond, and the question is agitating the growers at Fresno and other points as well. The almond orchards are reported in all conditions—from absolute starvation to overfeeding, at least in nitrogen. Some of those I have seen since last September would class readily with the former, but I know other orchards are vigorous, and yet do not bear. These things may be said as truly of the olive and many deciduous fruits also. It is indeed a puzzling question, to know what to do with barren or otherwise profitless orchards, but a pretty safe plan is to cut them out, root and branch, and start again—if you have the means for waiting a new attempt. Meantime all county horticultural boards, experiment stations, the university authorities, the State and national agricultural authorities, and scientific men all over California should join with the practical farmers in their efforts to bring out all that is good in fruit kinds, without retaining the poor and profitiess too long while awaiting a decision. The Times hopes to do some good by hammering away at the proposition of closing up and determining the experimentations in several lines of fruit growing, among which are those of the almond and olive.

One of the first topics I considered in this department last fall was that of the insufferable losses sustained in Southern California by planting sport navel trees, varieties not true to name, and trees deteriorated from any cause. Special mention was made, time and again, of the losses accruing from planting navel orange trees varying so from the normal type as to be absolutely worthless. Although I have decided reasons for ascribing these variations to accident, rather than to the mixing of varieties, it is to the practical side I wish to direct attention again. In spite of two very dry seasons orange planting will be unusually active for the next few months. The nurseries are even now unable to fill orders. A prominent citrus nurseryman told me Monday that almost every customer required a guarantee as to the purity of the strain when ordering Washington navel trees, and they want it traced back to the Riverside origination as closely as possible. This is a hopeful state of affairs, for it is to the typical navel orchards that Southern California owes its astonishing prestige as an orange-producing section. The inquiry for thoroughbred navel trees shows that the agitation toward the elimination of all coarse or "off-color" types is doing much good. Those who buy orange trees from nurserymen one year

No planter should be permitted to put out navel trees with gross or profitless characteristics, if moral suasion can prevent it. Oranges must be transported thousands of miles ard sold on their beauty as well as quality, and very often a market is permanently injured by the reception and sale of a gross or uneven cargo from California. Growers cannot afford to have their neighbors plant types of navel threes that have wandered away from the original, and they would do themselves and the trade a great favor by discouraging the planting of everything but the best.

I am well acquainted with an orchard now in splendid fruitage, which was planted ten years ago by the ald of crowbars made with chisel points, and by the use of dynamite. When blasting has to be introduced to secure a tree hole, one would suppose the crops would be very meager, but such has not been the case. The soil is of heavy clay and is evidently stratified shingle fashlon, but not impervious to water laterally. This supports the theory now accepted that hardpanning arises from lack of thorough, irrigation, as well as from lack of some soil element to retain the power of aeration and irrigation. Now is the time to work out the water right down upon the hardpan and let i run three or four days. Or, better to "form" your trees and give them a good soaking while water is abundant. I saw an orchard with, a big crop of large-sized oranges 'this week that would have produced nothing of a merchantable size, perhaps, had not the hardpan been removed by subsoiling and heavy irrigation last summer.

I drove through a lemon orchard last week near the southeastern boundary of Los Angeles county that, was suffering with the gum disease. A few years so this disease was giving the of Los Angeles county that was suffering with the gum disease. A few years ago this disease was giving the orange trees a terrible deal in some of the foothill regions, but my attention has not been called to a case of it among the orange groves since I began my rural travels last September. This is evidence that it is practically stamped out or has died out, as its virulence was well known a few years ago. The owner of the lemon grove in question says he is not afraid of the disease, but can keep it in control by close watching and decisive action when it appears. Still, it has ruined dozens of trees for him during his absence in the east, and it is altogether a terrible visitant to a citrus orchard. Guard against it.

The old, unsightly orange orchards at Pasadena are giving way rapidly

25 cents a ton and less—instead of ap-pling it to their lands, shows plainly that there is something wrong either in the manner the lands are leased to the farmers or in the aptitude of the far-mers to profit by the lessons of experi-the manner the lands are leased to the farmers or in the aptitude of the farmers to profit by the lessons of experience.

The leasing of land to farmers for the raising of sugar beets on one-year contracts is certainly the worst disposition possible. It is absolutely impossible for any farmer to cultivate such land in a manner as is required to secure an abundant beet crop of good quality. He has to try to get as much profit out of the soil as possible, indifferent to the fact that he robs the soil for which he does not care, as the land is not his property and he is in a position to renew the same operation next year on another tract of land with more or less profit.

The proprietor of the land should bear in mind that what he gets as rent of his land leased on such conditions does not counterbalance the loss in value of his soil, and it would be far more profitable to leave his land fallow. But it makes one feel unpleasant to hear the farmers complain that their beet crops gradually are declining and to know that those who cultivate their own land, after years of experience, have not learned that raising sugar beets has to be done in connection with rotation of crops and that the use of stable manure is the foundation of keeping the soil in a healthy and fertile condition.

Considering, however, that it is only a few years ago that the then owner of the Chino ranch used to make huge piles of all stable manure and burn it because he claimed that it would make the soil too rich and help the weeds to grow, it is not strange that the immense value of the stable manure is still not generally acknowledged and the wise order of the American Beet Sugar Company comes fortunately in good time to prevent further waste of it. Chino has reason to be grateful to her Champion.

Pancakes of Hay.

The Georgia and Argentina mules which are doing war duty in South Africa, with the British army, will be surprised when they see the new style of baled hay which will be served style of baled hay which will be served up to them as soon as the steamship Susquehanna gets to Cape Town. Three hundred tons were sent on the Susquehanna recently, and it is the first of a shipment of about 4500 tons, ordered by the British War Department. The baling of the hay is being done at the Atlantic dock in Brooklyn, where six new machines, owned by the Planters' Compress Company of Boston, are being used. The machine was invented by a man named Lowry. The hay is put up in bales cylindrical in form, about the size and shape of an old-fashioned nail keg, or eighteen inches high, and of the same diameter. When baled in this shape the hay is as hard as a board. The bales weigh about 145 pounds.

What will surprise Mr. Mule will be the way the hay is "handed out." It will be in pancake form. The hay pancakes, or layers, which will make up the bale, are about three-fourths of an inch thick, and as soon as the mule takes a bite of the pancake he will be kept chewing so constantly that he will forget about the bullets. Mr. Peck, who showed the reporter the process, did not say that the mule's mental facilities would be engaged to this extent. That is simply a non-hay-eating layman's own expression. The hay in the pancakes is so tightly packed that as soon as the mule begins chewing it he will have the same buoyant feelup to them as soon as the steamship the pancakes is so tigntly packed that as soon as the mule begins chewing it he will have the same buoyant feeling experienced by the small boy whose waistband is made tight by eating dried appies. The most compact bale of hay put up by the old style requires about 160 cubic feet space per ton. This new-fangled Geo This new-fangled Georgia mule hay takes up only fifty cubic feet of space per ton.

A rather singular combination of cir-takes up only firty cubic feet or space per ton.

A rather singular combination of circumstances is afforded at the baling plant in Brooklyn. The contractor is using Canadian hay, baled in the old square fashion, in Canada. The old bales are torn to pleese and fed into the top of the six new compressors. About half the product of the Brooklyn plant goes to South Africa for use in the army which is fighting the Boers, while the other half goes to Manila for use by the cavalry.

"We are compressionists when it comes to baling hay, but we're expansionists when it comes to selling it," said Mr. Peck. "The good thing about this new bale is that a mule can carry two 112-pound bales, and after he is fed off them for two or three days there's enough left for a cavalryman to-use as a miniature rampart. The hay is packed so tight that a bullet wouldn't go far into it. A mule can carry only one of the 145-pound bales. The greater number of bales shipped to South Africa weigh 112 pounds, the English hundredweight.

"A rather remarkable fact in connection with this process of baling was discovered by accident. You see where the hay goes into the machine through four mortised holes about the thickness of the hand? Well, the frictional heat caused by the drawing of the whole top of the compressor hot. As the hay passes through the seeps the whole top of the compressor hot. As the hay passes through the heat fuses and makes the whole layer, or pancake, aromatic. Horsey prefer hay in its loose state, on account of its aromatic properties."

Whether Mr. Peck's theory is correct properties."

Whether Mr. Peck's theory is correct or not, the fact remains that the heated hay yielded a delightful fragrance in the old storehouse where the work is being carried on.—[New York Tribune.]

THE VINEYARD. Resistant Vines.

HAT pioneer grape and wine grower, George Husmann of Napa, thus discusses in the California Fruit Grower a subject that is of deep this State:
"The subject of resistant vines and vineyards is none the less important because old. It is a matter of life and death to the whole industry of grape culture in California. Of the three culture in California. Of the three best-known classes riparia (sand or river grape) and its variations are the first. Prof. George Husmann of Napa says: This, as/its name implies, is at home in its wild state, along the banks of the principal rivers of Missouri, Illinois, Iowa. Nebraska and Kansas, and as it has spread from seeds mostly shows hundreds of sub-varieties differing very much in foliage and natural vigor. dency to root shallow, and as their roots are always within reach of moisture in the sandy soil of the rivers and islands where they are found, it would seem but natural that they cannot feel at home in dry, hot, calcareous soils. Yet they became very popular in France, when first introduced, on account of their entire resistance to phylloxera, and the easy propagation from cuttings, as they also took the graft readily, and most varieties of vinitera, when grafted on them, showed greater fruitfulness than on their own roots. But it also became apparent, in time, that they did not flourish in all soils, and that they would be short-lived in very dry, calcareous soils. While their resistance to phylloxera is not doubted anywhere, yet it could hardly be expected that a vine from the sandy soils of the rivers, with its roots always in reach of moisture, should flourish in dry, gravelly soils. That this should be the case still more in our State, with its rainless summers and sudden hot spells in July, and August, is not surprising, and it is to this cause principally that we have to look for the deciline and death of riparia vines near the bay, where they are within the influence of the moist air, refreshing them during the night, in the vineyards of Dresel and Gundlach, near Sonoma. Mr. Hewlett's, Judge Stanley's and all the adjoining vineyards, convinced us that the riparia three holds its own as well as ever, though all of these are from fifteen to eighteen years old. They show no decrease in vigor or productiveness and are satisfactory in every way. That too early grafting below the surface had much to do with the trouble, we are also convinced. Were we to plant a riparia vineyard, we would first ascertain that the location and soil were favorable; then prepare the soil thoroughly and deeply, pulverising it at least sixteen inches, then plant with good cuttings of the best and strongest growers, cutitvate it well for three years, until the vines are at least an inch in diameter, then graft with long, strong scl

CURED FISH. It is but a few weeks until Lent is here. The merchants all through the United States are laying in stocks of cured fish for interest:

The saiting of fish dates from time immemerial. In our own country in began with the first coloniscon and the first coloniscon and the first coloniscon and the first coloniscon and the first she was salted in the world is a fact that nobody knows. Enough is known, however, to enable us to say that it was thousands of years ago. We have records of codfishery off the coast of Norway as early as the present time there is not a country in fitteenth century began with the residual colonist and the first probably not until the present time there is not a country in fitteenth century began with the residual colonist and the first probably the great middle class of people. The fitteenth century began to the fishers, which has been large, and has made incursions into the business of the sea fisheries, both fresh and sait.

The vessels employed in the fisheries today are larger, faster and better frequipped than ever before. The catch of an accomplish the probably has been large, and has made incursions into the business of the sea fisheries, both fresh and sait.

The vessels employed in the fisheries today are larger, faster and better frequipped than ever before. The catch of said codfish by the vessels of the world, including the heart of Norway. Newfoundland, france and Canada, is estimated at 500,000,000 pounds, the most of which exported to tropical countries, after being hard dried. In this condition they keep until ready for use, and are very desirable food and best adapted to the climate. Then, again, the Latin Church imposes so many fast days, that sait fish is always in demand. There is a growing demand for sait fish, taking the world at large.

The vessels continued to the climate of the condition of the proper of the condition of the condition. The catch by the proper of the condition the proper of the condition of the condition of the condition of the condition varieties of fish probably make up ninetenths of the salt fish consumed by the people.

"The North Atlantic is probably richer, both as to quantity and quality, with edible fish than any other division of the globe's waters, and it may be added that where it washes the coast of North America is its richest subdivision. The salt groundfish industry is located principally in Massachusetts where the amount of codfish, hake, haddock, cusk and pollock salted in 1898 was 63,900,000 pounds.
"The codfish is synonymous with the name of massachusetts, and, using the eloquent language of Representative Gallivan: Poised high aloft in the hall of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, riding serenly the swaves of debate, unperturbed by the ebb and flow of enactment and repeal, all the desultory storms that vexued the nether depths of oratory, there has hung through immemorial years an ancient codfish, quaintly wrought in wood and painted to the light. Humble the subject and homely the design, yet this painted image bears on its finny front a majesty greater than the disnity that art can lend to graven gold or chiselled marble. The sphere it fills is vaster than that through which its prototype careered with all the myriad tribes of the great deep. The lessons which may be learned from it are nobier than any to be drawn from what is only beautiful, for this sedate and solitary fish is instinct with memories and prophecy, like an oracle. It celebrates the rise of free institutions. It emphasizes progress. It epitemizes Massachusetts. It typifies the world-old simplicity of those who go down to the sea in ships, the goodly godly race, whom the stately scriptural story has immortalized, whose saurdy virtues the Savior Himself distinguished in the choice of Peter, the apostolic fisherman, and whose singu-

COLD WEATHER HURTS TRADE.
BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There were no sales to-day. The weather was very cold, with the temperature at 8 to 15 deg. Jobbers report very little trade in oranges owing to the cold weather. Several cars to be sold tomorrow have been withdrawn and probably only twenty cars will be offered. There are now on the track and due thirty-seven cars.

Poor Prices at Boston.

BOSTON (Mass.,) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The thermometer dropped last night to near zero and it has been very cold all day. There was no sale of California oranges at auction. There are seventeen cars advertised to sell tomorrow. Jobbers report very little doing today in fruit on account of the severe cold. Cars are still accumulating on the track and at present there are forty-five cars in sight. There are no prospects for any improvement in prices until weather conditions are better and receipts lighter.

NUAL HOSPITAL MEETING. Comfortable Balance in the Treasury and Good Prospects Ahead-Three Hundred Dollars Received Yesterday-Masons Listen to Lecture by

PASADENA. Feb. 1.—[Regular Correspondence.] "Fourteen hundred dollars ahead of the game"—that was the cheering treasury report that greeted the annual meeting of the Pasadena Hospital Association this afternoon. It took considerable exertion to get the hospital agoing, but it has kept up a good pace since it was started las November. The secretary, H. H. Klamroth, reported to the large and enthuclastic gathering of members, that the total receipts had been $2351.79; disbursements, $968.98, leaving a cash barance on hand of $1402.81. The hospital sotal receipts had been $2351.79; disbursements, $958.98, leaving a cash batance on hand of $1402.81. The hospita has accommodated thirty-two persons since it was opened, and all but on have been discharged, cured or improved. Twenty-seven physicians have attended these patients. The two free beds have been almost constantly cocupled. The secretary regrets that information has reached him that the Ministers' Union of Pasadena declined to designate a hospital Sunday, on which a collection for the hospital should be taken in all the churches.
The assembly, given last week under the management of Mrs. F. Rowland and Miss Elizabeth Hubbard, netted $185 for the institution. Subscriptions amounting to $300 were received this afternoon, one lady giving $100. February 12 a benefit concert will be given by Paloma Schramm, the wonderful child planist. The hospital is practically self-supporting at present, and the prospects for its future are bright. The Building Committee expects to be able to make an important announcement before leng.

He referred to the fact that many of the fracterpity in England never take more than the Entered Apprentice degree, and he mentioned the dedication of the Scotch lodges to St. Andrew. A very interesting part of his discourse was his account of the singular features of Free Masonry in France. He described the rites of Masonic marriage, Masonic adoption of children, and Masonic memorial services, practiced in that country. SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY.

The litigation over the old Starke Hotel property has extended over a period of years. Within an hour after it was ended yesterday, a deed was filed, whereby Starke transferred the property to Wong See. The Chinese colony will prepare to occupy it at once. Several years ago, under foreclosure and subsequent sale, the property came into Bradford's possession, but with the agreement that Starke had two years in which to redeem. Shortly before midnight, on the last night of the second year, Starke called Bradford up and tendered the money in payment. Bradford declined to accept it, alleging that the amount offered was not sufficient to cover repairs and all that should be paid. A suit followed to compel him to accept, with the result stated. The Chinese have desired to get possession of the property for several years. It will hereafter be the headquarters for the colony, and many of the shacks on East Third street will be vacated at once.

LIME BURNS CHILDREN'S EYES. REDLANDS, Feb. 1.—[Regular Correspondence.] Yesterday while several little children were playing near the residence of W. H. Dow they got hold of some fresh lime. It was put into a fruit can and water poured upon it. The children gathered about the can to hear it sizzle, and see what would happen. The can was forced open by the pen. The can was forced open by the steam and gas generated within, and the hot semi-liquid lime flew into the faces of some of the little ones, striking the eyes of two-Ruth Ferguson, aged 5, and Ralph Colby, aged 8. Medical attendance was secured as soon as possible, and today the little girl appears to be getting along all right, and will not lose her eyesight, but the boy

ANADA'S ANSWER TO AMERICAN MINERS' PETITION.

[A. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.] CHICAGO, Feb. 1,—A special to the Fribune from Victoria, B. C., says that Premier Semlin today presented to the egislature the answer of his govern ment to the petition of the American miners in Atlin to President McKinley against the allen exclusion act. The Premier's letter to the Secretary of State says the statements in the peti ion that four-fifths of the claims in At

State says the statements in the petition that four-fifths of the claims in Atlin were prospected and located by Americans, and that citizens of the United States lost millions through the passage of the act, are exaggerated misstatements.

Continuing, the Premier said: "We would say any rights acquired by the petitioners have been preserved to them. The legislation complained of specifically exempts all claims recorded prior to its passage, and provides for the unimpeded working of such claims by the holders, although aliens. A reference to the mining laws will show that their whole tenor is as it necessarily must be, that no right is acquired until a claim is recorded. As already stated, all such rights are scrupulously respected. It may be well to note this, as a casual reader of the petition, unacquainted with the facts, might naturally suppose that claims had been confiscated. The government holds that men taking out miners' licenses did not acquire vested rights."

CLUBS OF WOMEN.

LOS ANGELES EBELL.

Yesterday's current events class at the Ebell clubhouse was an unusually large one. Discussion was lively and opinion appeared about equally divided on most of the questions considered. The sociological subjects excited most interest. These included the crowded condition of the local public schools, practical means of aiding the poor, the need of Los Angeles of a schools, the second condition of the local public schools, practical means of aiding the poor, the need of Los Angeles of a school condition of the local public schools, practical means of aiding the poor, the need of Los Angeles of a school condition of the local public schools, practical means of aiding the poor, the need of Los Angeles of a school condition of the local public schools, practical means of aiding the poor, the need of Los Angeles of a school condition of the local public schools, practical means of aiding the poor, the need of Los Angeles of a school condition of the local public schools, practical means of aiding the poor, the need of Los Angeles of a school condition of the local public schools, practical means of aiding the poor, the need of Los Angeles of a school condition of the local public schools, practical means of aiding the poor, the need of Los Angeles of a school condition of the local public schools. practical means of aiding the poor, the need of Los Angeles of a place of de-tention for children accused of crime, the elimination of the boss from politics, and the anti-suffrage agitation in Illinois. The political topics studied ranged from Kentucky to the Philip-pines, and touched on recent events and present conditions in Germany, France Switzerland, Hungary, Russia, Persia, China and Japan. Affairs in South Africa and other foreign points were studied with the aid of maps.

COVINA MONDAY AFTERNOON. The Covina Monday Afternoon Club met at the home of Mrs. E. B. Owens, Glendora, January 29. Sixty ladies, including a few invited guests, were present. The programme consisted of a vocal solo, rendered by Mrs. J. M. Whitsel, accompanied by Mrs. E. P. Warner; a paper on "Lowell as Revealed in His Works," by Miss Emma Hawks, and a tourist paper on "Paris," by Miss Whitman, which gave a delightful description of the city and its people, with here and there bits of humor and personalities. Miss Whitman's three years' residence in this the gayest capital of the world, as a student of art, made the reminiscences more interesting. After the completion of the programme, dainty refreshments were served, and a social hour thoroughly enjoyed.
